

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

The Board of Trustees of the State Library shall have supervision thereof and power to make rules and regulations for the same, and the Governor, the Secretary of the Commonwealth, and the Attorney General shall, ex-officio, be said trustees. . . . They shall meet annually upon the second Monday of December, and at such other times as they may fix for that purpose, and the State Librarian shall act as secretary to the same.

2. The Library rooms shall be open to the public every secular day, except public holidays, between the hours of 9 a. m. and 3 p. m., except during the sessions of the Legislature, and of the Supreme Court sitting at Harrisburg, when the Library shall be open as aforesaid between the hours of 9 a. m. and 9 p. m., provided that on Saturdays the Library shall be closed at 12 o'clock noon.

3. The Governor, members of the General Assembly, Justices of the Supreme Court, heads of departments, and officers of the Commonwealth at the seat of government, and such other persons as may be designated by the rules adopted by the Board of Trustees, shall be entitled, under such regulations as the Board of Trustees shall prescribe, to take books from the Library.

RULES FOR THE GOVERNMENT OF THE STATE LIBRARY, ADOPTED BY THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES, JANUARY 22, 1890.

RULE 1.

The State Library is one of reference, and not a circulating library. All persons are permitted to visit the Library and examine and read the books and reviews; but the Librarians shall exercise a proper discrimination as to the delivery of such books as they may judge liable to injury.

RULE 2.

During the time the Library is open, the Librarian or his assistants shall be in attendance. They shall preserve order, and exclude, if necessary, any disorderly person. They shall prevent smoking, loud talking or reading, and all noise inappropriate to the quietness of a place of study.

RULE 3.

It shall be the duty of the Librarian to register in a book provided for that purpose the names of all persons, entitled under the law and these rules, to take books from the Library, the title of the book and the time it is taken out; and he shall give notice to all persons failing to return the same at the specified time in Rule 6.

RULE 4.

Persons entitled under the law to receive books from the Library, cannot transfer that right or privilege to others, nor shall books taken from the Library be loaned to others.

RULE 5.

No book shall be taken from the Library until its title is written and receipt properly signed by the person receiving the same. Neither the Librarian nor his assistants can sign such receipt nor waive the giving of the same.

RULE 6.

No person shall have from the Library at any one time more than two books (or two volumes), and no book shall be retained from the Library for a longer period than two weeks; but this rule shall not apply to heads of departments desiring works for their personal consultation and use.

RULE 7.

The following works of reference shall not be removed from the Library, except in cases where the head of a department requires the same for consultation, viz: Directories, encyclopedias, newspapers, magazines, maps, pamphlet volumes, illustrated works of art, rare or costly books, books of limited edition, books or other documents presented to the Library for permanent preservation, reports of the supreme or other courts of last resort of the different States and Territories (except as hereinafter mentioned), manuscripts, engravings and works of an encyclopedic character.

RULE 8.

During the session of the Legislature, or the sitting of the Supreme Court in Harrisburg, any law book or work of reference may be taken to any room in the Capital by any member thereof, and lawyers in attendance on the Supreme Court may be permitted to take such law books as they may wish to the Supreme Court room, to be returned within two days, and the persons so receiving the same shall be personally responsible for their safe return.

RULE 9.

Members of the Legislature having in their possession any book, map or other publication belonging to the State Library shall return the same at least five days previous to the final adjournment; and it shall be the duty of the State Librarian to report to the presiding officers of the Senate and House of Representatives, respectively, two days before such final adjournment, the names of the members of each House, respectively, who have failed or neglected to return the same.

RULE 10.

No cases shall be left open by the Librarian or his assistants, and no one else shall be permitted to take from or replace upon the shelves, any book, map, or other publication.

RULE 11.

Books must be handled with care. Leaves of books must not be turned down, nor any marks whatsoever made on the margin.

REPORT

STATE LIBRARIAN.

To His Excellency ROBERT EMORY PATTISON,

Governor of the Commonwealth:

SIR: In conformity with my duty as State Librarian, it is with pleasure that I submit my report for the year ending 30th of November, 1892.

The number of volumes added to the State Library during the past twelve months, including our own State publications, has been as follows:

By purchase:

Miscellaneous books,	2, 123	volumes.
Law books,	339	"
Magazines and reviews,	160	"
Newspapers,	475	"
Parliamentary papers and debates,	148	"

By exchange:

With the United States,	396	"
With the states and territories,	513	"
With foreign countries (international),	147	"

By donation, exchange with institutions of learning, etc., 149 "

State publications required to be preserved in the State

Library, including supreme court reports, 450 "

4, 900 "

This, added to the estimated number of volumes one year ago, gives us a grand total of 93,000. The library is making rapid strides and instead of being low down in the scale of State libraries, it has passed up to the second in rank. This achievement has not been accomplished by any increase in the amount of appropriation thereto, but by hard work, extensive correspondence, and a watchful care for its interests. Pleasant as this review may be, it is offset by the want of proper accommodations.

Of the greatest moment, looking to the preservation of this most valuable collection of books, is the taking prompt action by the general assembly of 1893, for the erection of a suitable library building, and this measure should be earnestly pressed to a consummation. Reaching as we have seen nearly 100,000 volumes, comprising books upon almost every subject, the State is running great risk from destruction by fire, even were the present accommodations adequate. Over-crowded, in a badly-constructed room, many of the larger volumes and bound newspapers are piled upon the floor much to their injury. Students from a distance find themselves circumscribed, there being no alcove advantages for special work. It is not doubted but that the legislature will appreciate the demands of the age for greater facilities to those who consult and use libraries.

Owing to the large accumulations of books, it became necessary to place additional shelving in the library. It was not deemed advisable to continue the old style of wood cases, as these in a new building would be useless and out of place; so metallic bookstacks sufficient to accommodate fifteen thousand volumes were placed in position. It was thought that these might be sufficient for at least two years, but arranging the books taken from the floor of the gallery, little or no space is left. These have encroached very much upon the table room in the library, but it was the only remedy. Another two years' collection, it is hoped, can be arranged for, although many books may even then be inaccessible.

¶ In this report, it is only proper that some allusion be made to the more valuable additions to the library during the past year. A copy of Lord Kingsborough's Antiquities of Mexico, a very rare work, in nine folio volumes, has been secured at a low price, while the same may be said of the large paper copies of Valpy's "Delphini et Variorum" Edition of the Latin Classics, numbering 188 imperial octavo volumes. The English Parliamentary Papers numbered over one hundred folio volumes for the year 1890; while the Official Bulletin of England, from 1813 to 1879, and the Annual Register, from 1758 to 1832, the whole numbering 173 volumes, contain many valuable papers relating to the history of America. A pretty full collection of the histories of the different State regiments serving in the War for the Union have been secured. At the same time such records of the life and language of the aboriginal inhabitants of this country, have not been lost sight of, but purchased. Limited in number as all of these books are relating to the Indians, it is wise policy to procure if possible every work relating to that nomadic race.

As alluded to in the report for 1891, the Gettysburg Monument Commissioners deposited in the library all the plans and designs for the several monuments erected by the State on that decisive battle-field of the Republic; and we refer to it again from the fact that it would be eminently proper if other commissioners would follow their example and preserve for the State, a record of their transactions, and with the documents collected, transfer the same to this the State depository at the close of their labors.

The cataloguing of the law portion of the library has been nearly completed, and within a short period will be ready for printing. This must be provided for by the legislature, by special enactment, and this authority should designate the form as well as type in which the catalogue is to be published. As soon as provision is made for the work the preparation of the catalogue of the miscellaneous books should be commenced. It will take at least three years for the accomplishment of this work, and the legislature ought not to hesitate in directing the continuance of the same. To properly catalogue a library like that of the State requires time, literary ability, good judgment, and actual skill. In this busy student-age of ours, easy and quick references are necessary, and a catalogue that does not afford these advantages is not worth the paper upon which it is printed.

Permit me also to call attention to the fact, that, agreeably to law, the prothonotaries of the several districts of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania have deposited in this library the paper books of cases heard therein. These books should be properly arranged according to district, term and case, properly indexed and bound. Their safety as well as value demand, this, and a special appropriation is asked therefor.

The Board of Commissioners of the Second Geological Survey of the State have transferred to this library the valuable geological collection of books gathered during their existence. It is being shelved and catalogued, and endeavors made to make it as complete as possible. The commissioners have wisely appreciated the collection, and deposited it where it properly belongs, and where it will be cared for and arranged for scientific reference. In this connection, is it not the duty of every department of the State government to deposit in the library of the Commonwealth every pamphlet and book coming to them, which may not be received in the course of exchange?

Efforts have been made by the librarian to secure all the annual reports of the various eleemosynary and charitable institutions of the State, but with little avail. It would be only proper that all such be required by law to file with the State Librarian such annual reports. The reports of cities in Pennsylvania should likewise be preserved for record and reference. With the exception of those forwarded by the authorities of the city of Philadelphia, none others are received, and correspondence fails to elicit a favorable response.

The bound newspapers of the State are becoming more and more appreciated, and the number of those who come to the library from many sections to refer thereto is increasing greatly. This feature in our library work cannot be too carefully fostered.

In these days of student work upon special subjects "press clippings" are becoming great helpers. Commencing on the first of January last the securing of necrological notices of the more prominent personages of our own State, with "clippings" of historical sketches relating to the different counties, these properly placed in scrap-books and indexed, have enriched the library with over a dozen volumes more valuable and interesting in time than the small sum paid for these "clippings" would procure in any class of literature.

There are no doubt many items of interest which might tend to elaborate and render more valuable this report, but brevity is more highly commendable.

With the best thanks to the trustees for their aid and advice, I beg to remain,

Yours, with respect,

WILLIAM H. EGLE,
State Librarian.
